

Soon, it grew warmer and they flew over a beautiful city. Paper stars lit every street. Mia had never seen such a Christmassy place. She wished she could explore it.

"I'll come back when I'm older," she promised a cat on a moonlit rooftop. "But I must see my daddy first!"