

Lake Park only had one Squirrel,
All alone and sad (poor Cyril).

Until the morning he met Pat,
His new best friend, a big grey . . .

SQUIRREL!
Just like ME.

Pat and Cyril spent each day
Thinking up good games to play.

They liked to put on puppet shows,
And test how fast a skateboard goes.

Their favourite games were Hide-and-seek,

And one that they called Pigeon Sneak.

An illustration for a children's book page. At the top, several grey birds are flying, with many feathers falling around them. In the center, the word "BOO!" is written in a large, black, serif font. Below the text, two grey mice with pink ears and tails are standing on a patch of green grass with yellow and white flowers. They have their arms raised in surprise. To the right of the mice, a large grey bird with a green head and neck is standing on the grass, looking towards the mice. The background is white, and the overall scene is whimsical and playful.

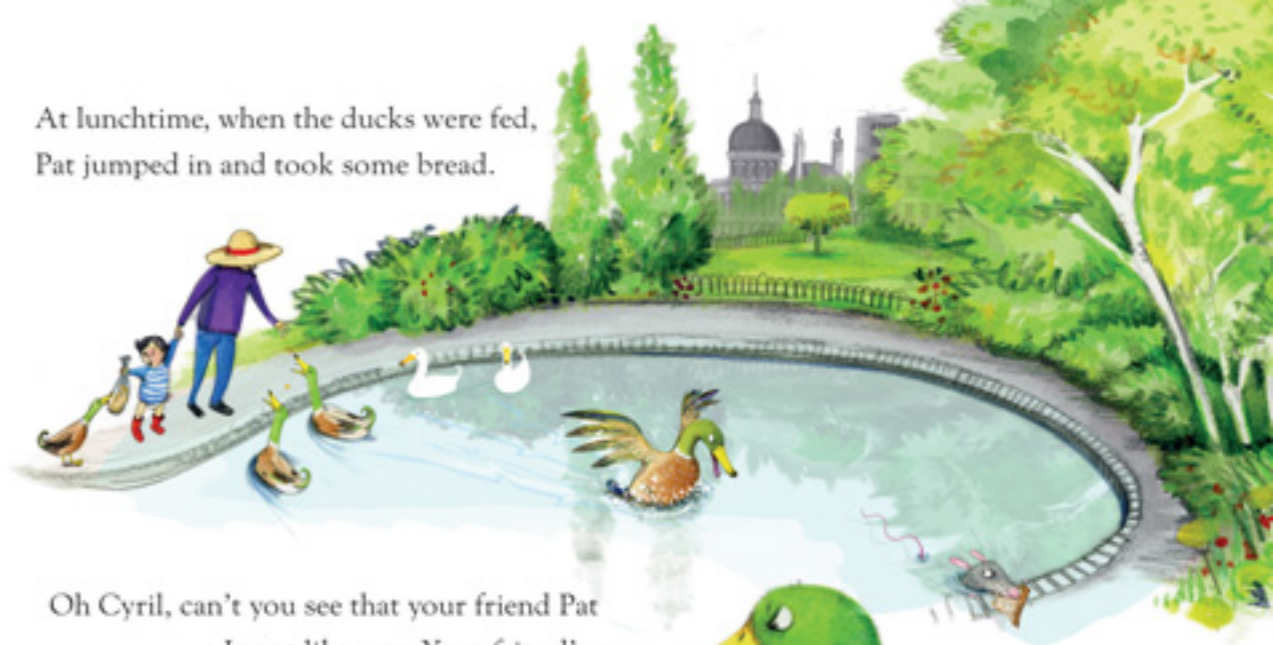

BOO!

Oh Cyril, can't you see that your friend Pat
Is not like you. Your friend's a ...

Real joker!

At lunchtime, when the ducks were fed,
Pat jumped in and took some bread.

Oh Cyril, can't you see that your friend Pat
Is not like you. Your friend's a . . .
