

For Katinka, Leila, Bo, Raphi and Geordie, with love ~ E-L M

For Renata, my favourite doctor! ~ L M

LITTLE TIGER PRESS LTD,
an imprint of the Little Tiger Group
1 Coda Studios,
189 Munster Road,
London SW6 6AW
www.littletiger.co.uk

First published in Great Britain 2021
This edition published 2022

Text copyright © Emi-Lou May 2021
Illustrations copyright © Leire Martín 2021
Emi-Lou May and Leire Martín have asserted their rights to be identified as the author and illustrator of this work under the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act, 1988
A CIP catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library

All rights reserved • ISBN 978-1-78881-862-9
Printed in China • LTP/2800/3496/1020

2 4 6 8 10 9 7 5 3 1

DOCTOR SAURUS

Emi-Lou May

Leire Martín

LITTLE TIGER
LONDON

A hundred million years ago
(plus three months and a day),
Some dino pals met up
to have a picnic and a play.

Triceratops roared, "Can't catch me!"
but didn't see the tree.

Then with a BASH he crashed headfirst and broke his horn in three!

"There, there!" said Pterodactyl.
"I can see your horn's gone squiffy.
Let's call for Doctorsaurus
and she'll fix you in a jiffy!"

An ambulance came racing up.
It skidded to a stop
And out stepped Doctorsaurus in her crisp, white doctor's top.

"Broken horns are painful,"
said the Doc, "but no disaster.
I'll patch it back together
with some extra-sticky plaster."

Then Stegosaurus sniffled,
"There's a splinter in my pinkie.
It's gone all green and gooey
and is really rather stinky!"

So Doctorsaurus fetched some giant tweezers from her kit. She pinched the pesky splinter and removed it in one bit.

"Wow!" said Doc.
"This splinter is the biggest that I've seen. Your pinkie will get better now – just keep it nice and clean."

