

Helping your children choose books they will love

LoveReading4kids.co.uk is a book website created for parents and children to make choosing books easy and fun

opening extract from

Vile: A Cautionary Tale for Little Monsters

written by

Mark Robinson

published by

Lion Hudson Plc

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

please print off and read at your leisure.

LoveReading .co.uk

A brand-new term is starting in the town of Beastieville.
The ancient School of Manners stands there, high upon a hill.
The friendly monsters go there, as suits their talents best,
all smiling, bright, and eager-eyed.
But as for all the rest...

... For those who pester, pinch, and push,
who sniffle in their snot;
the University of Vile awaits this monstrous lot.

Oh look who's here.

That's the School for me!

For here they get encouragement to reach their true potential, where naughtiness and mischief – and rudeness – are essential. They have to say how bad they've been when they arrive each day, so tripping, teasing, trumping must be tried along the way.

Even if I haven't picked the right School, I'll have picked the right nostril.

why do all the flowers pong?