

Helping your children choose books they will love

Lovereading4kids.co.uk is a book website created for parents and children to make choosing books easy and fun

Opening extract from
Winnie Goes for Gold

Written by
Laura Owen

Published by
Oxford University Press

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

Please print off and read at your leisure.

Winnie Goes for Gold

Στο Καφενείο Μηνάς – Κ.Π.
(To Cafeneo Menas)

For all those who, like me, are never going to win a gold medal, but still enjoy having a go at things – xx

OXFORD

UNIVERSITY PRESS

Great Clarendon Street, Oxford OX2 6DP

Oxford University Press is a department of the University of Oxford.
It furthers the University's objective of excellence in research, scholarship, and education by publishing worldwide in

Oxford New York

Auckland Cape Town Dar es Salaam Hong Kong Karachi
Kuala Lumpur Madrid Melbourne Mexico City Nairobi
New Delhi Shanghai Taipei Toronto

With offices in

Argentina Austria Brazil Chile Czech Republic France Greece
Guatemala Hungary Italy Japan Poland Portugal Singapore
South Korea Switzerland Thailand Turkey Ukraine Vietnam

Oxford is a registered trade mark of Oxford University Press
in the UK and in certain other countries

Text © Oxford University Press 2012

Illustrations © Korky Paul 2012

The characters in this work are the original creation of Valerie Thomas who retains copyright in the characters.

The moral rights of the author/illustrator have been asserted
Database right Oxford University Press (maker)

First published in 2012

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means,
without the prior permission in writing of Oxford University Press,
or as expressly permitted by law, or under terms agreed with the appropriate reprographics rights organization. Enquiries concerning reproduction outside the scope of the above should be sent to the Rights Department,
Oxford University Press, at the address above

You must not circulate this book in any other binding or cover and you must impose this same condition on any acquirer

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data
Data available

ISBN: 978-0-19-275824-8 (paperback)

2 4 6 8 10 9 7 5 3 1

Printed in Great Britain

Paper used in the production of this book is a natural, recyclable product made from wood grown in sustainable forests. The manufacturing process conforms to the environmental regulations of the country of origin

Laura Owen and Korcky Paul

Winnie Goes for Gold

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

contents ★

Winnie's House Party ★

Winnie's Pedal Power ★

Winnie Minds the Baby

Winnie Goes for Gold

Winnie's House Party

Winnie woke in the deep dark middle of the night, clutching her tatty batty blankets and listening to the darkness, and wondered what had woken her.

Silence.

There should have been a sound of Wilbur snuffling and grunting.

‘Wilbur?’ Winnie picked up her wand. Swish! ‘Abracadabra!’ The end of the wand glowed like a torch, which scribbled light around the room. Winnie shuffled into her slip-sloppers, pulled on her messing gown, and set off along the long dark landing. She felt terribly lonely, all on her only in that big house.

‘Wilbur?’

Winnie opened door after door, but the only answer she got back from the empty rooms was her own echo.

‘Where are you?’ said Winnie.

‘Where are you?’ said the echo.

‘I’m here, you fool!’ said Winnie.

‘I’m here, you fool!’ said the echo.

Crash!

‘What was that?’

Winnie hurried downstairs to the kitchen and shone her wand-torch . . .

‘Wilbur, there you are!’

‘Mnmnmeeow,’ said Wilbur, licking his lips.

‘Heck, Wilbur! You’ve cooked more than we could eat in a week!’ said Winnie. ‘Right, that’s it!’

‘Meeow?’

‘We’re going to have a house party!’

‘Me-he-he!’ laughed Wilbur.

‘Not a party for houses! That would be as silly as a snail taking up clog dancing. A party for people in our house. We’ve got empty rooms and too much food. And I’d like people to talk to instead of just cats and echoes.’

‘Mrrow!’ scowled Wilbur.

