おやすみなさい、こどもたち

海のむこうに 日が沈む
みんなで帰ろ 草の道
聞いてみようか あの星に
夕日はどこへ帰るのか

戦の庭に 日が沈み
怪我した子らが 眠るとき
平和の国に 日が昇り
夢みる子らが 目をさます

朝日がのぼる 日が沈む
顔も言葉もちがうけど
遠くの子にも 空があり
同じ地球で 生きてるの

夕日はどこへも 帰らない
さかさの国では 朝日なの
眠りの精が 帰るだけ
山のむこうに 日が昇る

家中みんなで ゆうごはん
好き嫌いする子がいても
さかさの国の あさごはん
パンをわけあう 子もいるの

夕日が沈んで 星が出る
地球のどこにも 夜がきて
眠りの精がやってくる
おやすみなさい こどもたち

Good Night, Children

The sun is setting beyond the sea
Down grassy trails we head toward home.
Oh, evening star, high in the sky
Where is home for the setting sun?

The setting sun goes nowhere home
It is the dawn of another world.
There, the sandman heads for home —
As the sun is rising beyond the hills.

Shadows fall on embattled grounds
Sleep comes to children hurt by war.
In lands of peace, sun climbs the sky.
Children dream, then open their eyes.

Round the supper fare, whole families gather,
And children fuss — don't like this nor that
At breakfast, round the other side of the world
Children share their bread or gruel.

The morning sun rises, the evening sun sets
The faces are different, as are the tongues
But one is the sky that stretches above
For those far and near, all children of Earth.

The setting sun sinks
The stars twinkle out
Night comes, and to every corner on Earth
The sandman is coming.

Good night, children.
